Engineers

RMA

regional + urban

Our combined expertise in engineering, project management and consulting is our strength. We bring our resourceful and innovative approach to all our work, whether it be an intensive livestock expansion out west, a master planned community on the urban fringe or a vertical school development in the city.

Why us

We are approachable, reliable and responsive. This means there's always someone available to answer your questions.

You have one point of contact throughout the whole project. Each team is made up of skilled RPEQ engineers supported by the knowledge and experience of our whole company of consultants.

We're easy to work with. We understand things can change along the way so we plan alternative solutions early on to keep your project on track. We know the detail is important. Our customised designs are thorough and specific to give you the best commercial outcome.

We look beyond the 'black and white' to find the most cost-effective, viable solution for your project. Our solutions bridge the gap between engineering and commercial challenges to achieve your objectives.

- 15000+ projects completed across Australia
- 40% of our technical staff are RPEQ qualified

Our services

We specialise in innovative, practical solutions to achieve successful project outcomes. Our multi-disciplinary teams can facilitate all your engineering, project management and development advisory needs in one place, including:

“The RMA team were proactive in keeping the project moving, identifying blockages to progress and suggesting solutions. RMA kept us fully informed the whole way through the project and we were very satisfied with the project outcomes. I can confidently recommend RMA Engineers. Working closely with our internal team, RMA facilitated successful project completion.”

Our philosophy

We work in partnership with our clients and have a strong reputation for understanding their business and assisting them to develop their projects from concept to completion.

Our practical experience and understanding means we integrate bespoke functional requirements to deliver complex project outcomes and feasible operations.

“I have worked with RMA Engineers for over 15 years on a variety of projects and either engaged RMA to perform design and construct projects for us, or we worked on projects where RMA were engaged as project engineers and managers by our clients.

For the last 3 years I have been working with RMA on development projects, where I partner with RMA early on at project inception to scope out the design intricacies of the project. I then work with RMA through detail design and approvals, construction, project handover and maintenance.

Over this extended period of working with RMA in different capacities, I have always found RMA to be professional, diligent and display excellent design and problem solving skills.

RMA are my design partner of choice.”

People – our priority

Our vision at RMA is “Inspiring our people to deliver the best engineering outcomes to all of our clients, every time”. We are committed to understanding what success means to you.

Our face-to-face delivery model ensures direct access to principal engineers and directors with a commitment to personal collaboration. With offices in Toowoomba, Brisbane and Bundaberg we are able to provide a wealth of experience and capability amongst the agile teams in each discipline.

“RMA think ‘outside the square’ and produce high quality outcomes. Architects need to have flexibility and the full cooperation from their engineers and RMA definitely deliver that!”

Paul Trotter,
Fulton Trotter Architects

“RMA is a very practical, solution-focused business. They are approachable, efficient, good value and very well connected within the industry.
